NUMBER 39.

TO THE HIGHEST COURT

Is Carried the Contest Against the Northern Pacific Merger.

INJUNCTION PETITION FILED TUESDAY

An Exhaustive Document Setting Forth Policy of Minnesota In Its Fight With the Hill Syndicate and the Causes of Action.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Attorney General Wallace B. Douglas of Minnesota filed in the United States supreme court, the bill of complaint in the case of the state of Minnesota against the Northern Securities company. It is a document of about 10,000 words, covering 32 pages of printed matter.

The bill first points out the direct interest the state has in the proposed consolidation. The state still owns more than 3,000,000 acres of public land valued at more than $15,000,000 and traversed in part by the lines of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads. If the merger is effected these roads will cease to build spurs into these lands or compete for their business. The value of the lands will not increase as it has under competition and the state will lose in taxable value of its property. The lands will not be opened for years and development will be arrested.

It is next set up that the state expends more than $700,000 annually in the operation and maintenance of its educational, charitable and other public institutions; that this is mostly raised by direct taxation; that the amount which can be raised and the successful maintenance of these institutions for the benefit of its citizens depend largely upon value of the real and personal property within the state which in turn depends largely upon free railroad competition. It has been the settled policy of the state to encourage railroad building by grant of lands and in this way over 10,500,000 acres have been granted, nearly all of which has been granted to the Great Northern and Northern Pacific and their subsidiaries. The complaint alleges that the rates on the immense shipments of wheat and other merchandise over the lines of the two companies have been lower than they will be under arrangement that contemplates unity of control.

Conditions of the Charters.

The bill then recites the charters and incorporations under which the Great Northern operates over 500 miles of road and cites the clause in its charter providing that its affairs are to be conducted by a board of directors which is to do all things necessary "and not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States, or the laws of this territory, or this act." It is further alleged that James J. Hill holds a controlling interest in the $125,000,000 of capital stock. The history and charters of the Northern Pacific are similarly stated, special attention being paid to the roads acquired and built within the state. By filing its articles of incorporation in Wisconsin with the Minnesota authorities the Northern Pacific became subject to all the laws, regulations and provisions of Minnesota. The facts as to the present personal directory, the insolvency of the old company and its reorganization in 1893, the purchase of the St. Paul and Duluth in 1899 are recited at length. It is set up that the lines of these two systems are not only competitive between points within Minnesota, but that they furnish the only competitive lines between Minnesota and Puget Sound and have so furnished for 11 years. They are also, with one exception, the only lines traversing northern Minnesota. A paragraph is devoted to the Burlington and the facts as to the terms on which its control was obtained by the two systems jointly, Charles E. Perkins, its former president and director being a director in the Northern Securities company. The certificate of incorporation of the latter filed in New Jersey Nov. 13, 1901, is quoted in full.

Northern Securities Company.

Taking up the Northern Securities company it is set forth that it was organized by J. J. Hill, W. F. Clough, J. Pierpont Morgan and "other associates to the oratrix unknown," who at the time were continually in conference over means by which the laws of Minnesota might be successfully evaded, or avoided and that it was so organized solely for the purpose of effecting a consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The owners of a large majority of the stock of the two systems had agreed beforehand to transfer to the new company 75 per cent of the stock of the systems on terms which are set forth in full and to retire the preferred stock of the Northern Pacific. In furtherance of the plan to evade the laws of Minnesota, it was agreed that pending the delivery of the stock to the Northern Securities company it should all be turned over to James J. Hill or be under his control. The Northern Securities company, it is charged, does not intend to purchase this stock, but simply to issue its own stock in exchange therefor.

The Merger Attacked.

For these unlawful purposes the company is about to receive, unless enjoined therefrom, all the capital stock of the Great Northern and Pacific. This, it is claimed, is part of a plan of Hill, Morgan and their associates, whereby the two systems are to be consolidated and placed under the direction of one man or board of directors, through the defendant company and thus bring about and perpetuate a monopoly in railway traffic in Minnesota and a complete consolidation of the two systems. One man or board will thus, it is alleged, be enabled to fix all rates on lines of the state, determine what trains shall run, remove all competition, and prevent the building of lines into new country or into competitive territory. This agreement and the consummation thereof is claimed to be "in restraint of trade against public policy and void." Under its terms the directory of the Northern Securities company may change its own rules or may delegate all its authority to an executive committee. It is pointed out that Hill the president, W. P. Clough the vice president, and E. T. Nichols the treasurer and secretary of the company were all at the date of its organization officers of the Great Northern and that a majority of its directors were also directors of the Northern Pacific. It has been the settled policy of the state to prohibit consolidation of parallel or competing lines and the law of 1874 in which such prohibition is made is quoted in full, as well as the amplifying act of 1881, and the anti-trust law of 1899 prohibiting any combination in restraint of trade. It is set up that the Northern Securities company is a railroad corporation within the meaning of the Minnesota laws and that its design to evade, escape and violate these laws in such a way as to cause the state "irreparable injury." It is not the owner of any other property or stock or securities and is engaged in no other business save that of management and control of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific.

Already, it is alleged, J. J. Hill, as president of the Northern Securities company has dictated, changed and controlled the policy of the two constituent roads, and during December, 1901, it is alleged, the general managing officers of the Great Northern, acting under his direction, took charge of and are now engaged in managing a large portion of the business of the Northern Pacific. It is alleged that it is the settled policy of New Jersey to allow the consolidation of only such railroads as are, or can be connected to form continuous lines and not to permit the consolidation of parallel or competing lines.

Grounds Set Up For Injunction.

The oratrix, claiming to have no other adequate remedy or relief, except as prayed for in equity, asks that the defendant be required to show cause why it should not be perpetually enjoined and restrained:

First—From voting at any meeting of the stockholders of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, the capital of these companies and from attending in any manner such meeting.

Second—From aiding, advising, interfering with or in any way participating in the management of the two systems.

Third—From permitting any of its officers, agents, or servants from acting as representative, director, officer or employee or exercising any control, or direction over the same.

Fourth—Making any arrangements or combinations having for their object such joint control.

Fifth—From holding, owning or controlling any of the stock of either company, the defendant company being required to resign or retransfer all such stock to the person from whom it was received taking in return its own stock issued in exchange therefor, and meanwhile to be enjoined in all respects in relation to said stock as hereinbefore prayed for.

Sixth—From receiving any more stock of the two companies, in case it shall appear that the defendant company has not yet acquired controlling interest in either.

Seventh—The oratrix prays permission to amend complaint if necessary and bring in other parties for the purpose of giving force and effect to any decree of the court, and asks the court to issue a subpoena against the company and set a day for the hearing.

ISTHMIAN CANAL BILL

Now Has the Right of Way in the Lower House of Congress.

HEPBURN OPENED THE DISCUSSION.

Chaplain of the Senate Prayed For Newspaper Correspondents—Bills Introduced In the House and Senate—Washington News.

Washington, Jan. 7.—There was a fairly large attendance in the galleries of the house in anticipation of the opening of the debate upon the Nicaraguan canal bill which had been made a special order for Tuesday. By the terms of the order the bill will continue before the house till disposed of.

Without preliminary business the house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio in the chair, for the consideration of the bill, and Mr. Hepburn (Iowa), the chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce which reported the bill, took the floor to open the debate.

Representative Cooper (Wis.), chairman of the house committee on insular affairs, introduced a bill giving a complete form of insular government for the Philippines, to begin Jan. 1, 1904, with a government appointed by the president, a legislature of two houses, and with two Philippine commissioners to represent the Philippine people at Washington. In other respects the Cooper bill follows that of Senator Lodge, but in the important features of establishing a civil government after Jan. 1, 1904, Mr. Cooper's measure enlarges on the bill drawn at the war department and introduced in the senate by Mr. Lodge. In framing a form of civil government for the Philippines Mr. Cooper follows the recommendations of the Philippine commission, and continues the authority of the commission until Jan. 1, 1904. The upper branch of the legislature is called the council, and is to consist of five native Filipinos appointed by the president. The lower house is called the house of delegates, and consists of 30 members, elected every two years by vote of the Philippine people. The qualifications of the voters are that they shall be over 21 years old, shall be able to read and write Spanish or English, shall possess taxable property and shall have resided for one year in the islands.

In the Senate.

In the course of his invocation in the senate the chaplain referred to "that body of able and accomplished men who send forth reports of the proceedings." Among the oldest senators and officials of the body it was noted that this was the first time in the history of the senate that the reporters and correspondents ever were prayed for in the United States senate.

The first hour after the session convened was consumed in the introduction of bills, principally measures of a private character, including bills for pensions, claims, etc.

A resolution offered by Mr. Stewart (Nev.) was adopted directing the secretary of the interior to inform the senate wherein leases for large tracts of land on Indian reservations have been made or are in contemplation.

A resolution offered by Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) was adopted. It directs the committee on the District of Columbia to ascertain whether the law requiring employers of female help in stores, shops and factories of the District of Columbia to provide seats for the employees while not actually engaged in work is being observed, if not, why?

A resolution by Mr. Morgan was adopted after some debate authorizing the canal committee to investigate as to whether trans-American lines in the United States or Canada had combined to keep up traffic rates for cargoes and passengers across Panama.

At 1:25 p. m. the senate adjourned till 2 p. m. Wednesday.

The postponement of the hour of meeting Wednesday until 2 o'clock due to the desire of many senators to attend the wedding of Miss Foraker, daughter of Senator Foraker of Ohio, which is to occur at noon.

Hull on Army Legislation.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Representative Hull, chairman of the house committee on military affairs said there would be no move at this session of congress for a revision of the present army organization, or for any broad general legislation affecting the army. "An erroneous impression has gone out that I favor a revision of the law passed last year," said Mr. Hull, "but as matter of fact, I favor letting the present law demonstrate its usefulness before tinkering with it. I do not believe in passing a bill at one session and repealing it the next. I have been quoted as favoring a reduction of the army to 80,000. This is not only incorrect, but it is absurd, in view of the fact that the president has the power under the present law to make reductions within the range of 100,000 to 50,000 men. There will be several bills of a special character affecting the army. One of these special measures will be framed when the army board now in session determines on the four large posts, for great assembling camps for the regular army, in various parts of the country. Another bill provides for numerous retirements in accordance with recommendations of the war department. But these and other measures do not touch the general organization of the army which will be let alone so far as I am aware, during this session of congress."

KENTUCKY LEG SLATURE.

Blue Grass Statesmen Are In Session.

Gov. Beckham's Message. Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 7.—Both branches of the Kentucky legislature organized Tuesday by the election of the nominees of the Democratic caucuses, namely: Speaker of the house, Gerald T. Finn of Simpson county; house clerk, James E. Stone of Breckinridge county; president of senate, N. W. Utley of Lyon; chief clerk of senate, William Cromwell.

After the usual routine business the annual message of Governor Beckham was read and referred to the usual committees.

In his message to the Kentucky legislature Governor Beckham congratulated the assembly that the conditions under which it is assembled are propitious and that all indications give promise of a successful session, and adds: "The dark clouds of internal dissensions that hung over us two years ago in the unhappy differences then existing have disappeared. The unfortunate bitterness of that period caused by the extraordinary political conditions is fast disappearing and our people now fully realize the superior advantages of diverting their time and attention to the industrial progress of the state rather than to the activities of heated political controversies and contests. Notwithstanding the many misrepresentations and slanders uttered by outsiders concerning the conditions of the state, it is nevertheless a fact that the supremacy of the law in Kentucky today is such as to give every citizen as perfect a guarantee of protection to life, liberty of property, as can be found in any state in the union. We have suffered much by these false and exaggerated reports, but it is now happily within our power to give absolute assurance to all that a condition of peace and a respect for law exists from one end of the state to the other." Referring to finances the governor advises retrenchment in expenses and more economical disposition of its revenues, so as to avoid the necessity of increasing the taxation for the purpose of state government. Bonded indebtedness Jan. 1, 1902, was $1,000,000 in 4 per cent bonds, one-half of which matures in 1905, and the other half in 1907. Old bonds outstanding amount to $6,394, but they are supposed to be lost and may never be presented for payment. The total educational bonds amount to $2,477,596.86. There was a cash balance in the treasury Jan. 1, 1902, of $1,146,130.03.

The governor refers to the sum $729,626.36 expended last year for charitable purposes and he advises a thorough investigation "to see whether or not all this money is necessarily expended." As to the public buildings at the capital city he says "they are unsightly and incongruous and unworthy of the state of Kentucky," as well as inadequate for the transaction of public business. He recommends a new capitol building; also that "foreign corporations doing business in the state should be required to pay tax as a matter of equity to home corporations, and as a matter of fairness and justice;" also that the state be fully represented in the St. Louis exposition.

Wants to Prove Innocence.

London, Jan. 7.—John Murray, who recently surrendered to the police in Ireland, saying he had killed his wife at West Jefferson, O., and who was brought to this country in custody, appeared at the Bow street police court charged with manslaughter. He was remanded one week. Murray made a statement in which he admitted having killed his wife unintentionally. He said he left West Jefferson because his father-in-law threatened to assault him. He now wishes to return and prove his innocence.

Norfolk and Western Wreck.

Gray, W. Va., Jan. 7.—No. 4, Norfolk and Western express train from Columbus, O., to Norfolk, Va., collided here with a northbound through freight train and both trains were badly wrecked. The messenger and brakeman on the express were killed outright and the engineer and fireman on the freight are missing. A number of others were injured.

UP TO THE PRESIDENT.

Schley Appeals From Long's Decision and Majority Report.

SOME NEW FACTS TO BE SUBMITTED.

Object of the Admiral's Personal Call at the White House Monday Made Known—His Attorneys Are Preparing the Appeal.

Washington, Jan. 7.—It was made known Tuesday that the object of Admiral Schley's visit to the White House Monday was to request the president to entertain and consider an appeal for the reversal of the action of Secretary Long and the disapproval of the majority of the court of inquiry. The interview was satisfactory, the president granting the admiral's request. Messrs. Rayner and Teague will assist Admiral Schley in the preparation of the appeal.

The interview with the president was arranged in advance and at its conclusion Admiral Schley left the White House in a satisfied state of mind. He had been given a full opportunity to present the case from his standpoint and to acquaint the president with many details of which the latter could not have any knowledge. While Admiral Schley would not make any statement regarding the matters discussed, holding that an interview between a naval officer and his commander-in-chief should be regarded as confidential, it is understood he brought to the president's attention many of the alleged injustices and discrepancies of the majority report of the court of inquiry.

Admiral Schley's interview with the president was the result of his determination to exhaust every means in his power to overturn the judgment which has been rendered against him. His appeal will be different from that submitted to the navy department, bringing out some new facts which have an important bearing upon the controversy.

The following statement was given out by Admiral Schley's counsel at the conclusion of a conference: "As Admiral Schley has concluded after mature and careful deliberation, to appeal from the majority decision of the court of inquiry to the president of the United States, as commander-in-chief of the army and navy. The action having been determined upon nothing more can be divulged at this time, the regulations of the navy being such that the nature of the proposed appeal cannot be revealed except by the president after the formal documents have been filed with him."

Mr. Rayner stated that it will take some time to prepare the appeal and that it will not be filed with the president until after the return of Admiral Schley from Savannah, about Jan. 30.

RETURNED TO PEKING.

Chinese Court Again Installed in the Capital of the Empire.

Peking, Jan. 7.—Thousands of officials assembled here to receive the emperor and empress dowager on their return to the capital. The entire route to the entrance of the palace was lined with troops.

When the Imperial cortege entered the Forbidden City it was the most brilliant scene Peking ever witnessed. The procession consisted of 1,000 gorgeously attired noblemen, mounted upon glittering caparisoned horses. The emperor, the empress dowager, Prince Chun, the empress and several princes were borne in yellow chairs, their escort carrying hundreds of gay banners and silk umbrellas. The troops of General Yuan-Shi-Kai, governor of Pe-Chi-Li, preceded the emperor. The foreign community assembled on top of the Chien gate.

The emperor and empress dowager entered the temple in the gate and burned incense. The dowager empress upon emerging from the temple saw the foreigners peering down and bowed. A double row of soldiers, kneeling, lined the four mile route.

Americans and Russians Clash.

Washington, Jan. 7.—A serious clash occurred between American sailors of the United States ship Vicksburg and the Russian soldiery at Nienchwang, China. There have been three fights and as a result one Russian soldier is reported wounded. The matter was made the subject of complaint by the Russian ambassador at Peking to United States Minister Conger and Mr. Conger in turn has informed the state department. Secretary of the Navy Long has cabled Commander Berry of the Vicksburg to use every effort to prevent further collisions.

Aberdeen, Miss., Jan. 7.—Will Lanker, under sentence of death for the murder of Bittle Brothers, and who has twice broken jail, has been recaptured and is again in prison here heavily ironed and closely guarded.

BOLD BANK BURGLARY.

Three Men Bound and Gagged of Whom One Was a Rough Rider.

St. Louis, Jan. 7.—Six masked men entered the National Stock Yards bank, north of East St. Louis, Ill., and after capturing and gagging the two night watchmen and firemen at the plant and blowing open the vaults with dynamite, secured $5,000 in coin and currency. They were at work nine hours on the vaults without being interfered with. Lee Philpot, one of the watchmen, a rough rider friend of President Roosevelt and a member of the well-known Kentucky family of that name, was the first to meet with the robbers. He was standing in the stock yards, near the Exchange building in which the bank is located, when he was addressed by three men who sprang out of a fence corner with revolvers in their hands. They said: "We want you, Philpot," and with that overpowered him before he could reach his revolver. The three robbers took Philpot to the composing room of the Daily National Stocks Yards Reporter, near by, and bound hand and feet and gagged him with towels. While lying there three other men came in. Philpot heard the leader of the gang say "Let's kill him." He was deterred from doing this, Philpot says, by the other robbers. One of the six men was sent out with injunctions to secure the others. Albert Estop, the other bank watchman was caught on the steps of the Exchange building. The robber went up to Estop and addressed him by name. Thinking it was a friend, Estop was taken unawares and when a revolver was thrust into his face was not in a shape for a defense. Under threats of death he was forced to go to the composing room, where he was also bound and gagged. Night Fireman L. W. Clark was taken unawares in the steam plant of the Exchange building. He resisted and was badly beaten before subdued. He was also taken to the composing room and left bound and gagged.

In addition to the $5,000, the robbers secured $550 left with the bank by Assistant Postmaster Bushnell of the stock yards. This is the bank the officers of which recently swore out a warrant charging Theodore Duddleston, the assistant cashier, with embezzling $12,000.

Attorney General Knox has given an opinion in which he holds that the certificates of stock, amounting to $25,000,000, proposed to be deposited by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company with the Girard Trust Company, trustee, as the security for certain other certificates to be issued by the latter company for the use of the railroad company, are taxable under Schedule A of the act of June 13, 1898. The amount of stamps required will be $50,000. This opinion sustains Commissioner Yerkes' holding not only in this particular case, but also his ruling to the effect that stocks pledged as collateral, on time or call loans, must be stamped.

"The Days That Are No More."

Mrs. Elizabeth Bryant Johnson, a native of Germantown and well-known in Maysville, is the author of an interesting collection of sketches entitled "The Days That Are No More." The New York Express says: "She knows the old plantation life and types, the negro character, with all its humor, pathos and weaknesses, as few writers of to-day do know them. She has in high degree the rare gift of story-telling, and makes of her characters genuine living men and women. The first sketch, "A Sho' 'Nuf Case of Conjurin'," tells with delightful humor how a young negro girl, a victim of superstition, fell under the malign influence and was happily cured. Eight other tales follow, each a gem of narration. One feels as if he came to know the real Southern dandy, in these pages, and there are some mighty fine white folks as well. The illustrations include, beside drawings and a portrait of the author, several plates made from photographs by Miss Frances B. Johnston, well-known for her choice camera work."

The appropriations for which the Kentucky Legislature will be asked aggregate about $2,000,000, including $1,000,000 for a new Capitol. The Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum, at Lexington, has asked for an appropriation of about $150,000, and about the same amount is wanted by the House of Reform at Lexington. The State College at Lexington wants about

The Lakeland Asylum wants an appropriation in order to buy an adjoining farm, from which to secure a water supply for the asylum. The Eddyville penitentiary wants about $50,000 for improvements. Muslin Underwear!

The sale is on. It's growing larger each day. When ladies are buying $15 and $20 worth at a time you must know that it is a great sale of Underwear. You must know that it is made right, that it is in good style, that it is of fine materials, that it is under price—not under price, but about one-half price. Don't miss this sale.

A customer remarked on Monday: If you could buy laces at one-half price, if you could get work done very cheap, you still couldn't buy Underwear as nice and cheap as in your sale. It's the end of Underwear making, she said. It was a true saying by a good woman in the Big Store. Don't miss this sale.

CLOAKS!

We have a few Cloaks left. If your size is here we will make the price fit. DON'T MISS THIS SALE.

BLANKETS.

We have too many; you have too few. We will compromise with a 20 per cent. reduction on all Blankets, from a 59c. cotton Blanket to an all wool extra heavy at $4.25. Don't miss this sale.

COMFORTS.

A good name for the kind we carry. We have comfort enough—have you? A 20 per cent. reduction ought to put us on even terms. We have lots of Comforts left, and the weather man promises plenty cold weather, so don't miss this sale.

ROBES.

It's the $2 Robe. You can use them for covers when lounging around—a great many people are making bath robes of some. They are all very beautiful—light blue, tan and red. Pay us 98c. and you can use them for what you will.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens finished with lovers knots of white ribbon, the arch under which the bridal party stood being cunningly fashioned in the shape of an inverted heart. At 6:45 the wedding march played by Mrs. Rodney Cord pealed sweetly, betraying the "touch of a master hand. The bride looked very sweet and stately in a handsome costume of lead-colored cloth, with trimmings of white satin and overlace, and carried a prayerbook that had once belonged to her grandmother. She entered leaning on the arm of her attendant, Miss Gertrude Staton, who was tastefully in dark green broadcloth, trimmed in lemon-colored silk and black cut velvet.
